INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

1.—“THE SOUTH AFRICAN PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE COLONY OF THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE” was established in 1818, by Government Proclamation dated the 20th of March, in which it was directed that the Institution should be entrusted to the care of a Committee of Management, and the funds for its support should be derived from a certain charge upon every cask of wine passing through the market of Cape Town, the wine trade then being the principal source of wealth to the inhabitants, and the staple export of the Colony. The design of the Government in the establishment of the Library was, in the words of the Proclamation, “to lay the foundation of a system which shall place the means of knowledge within the reach of the youth of this remote corner of the Globe, and bring within their reach what the most eloquent of ancient writers has considered to be one of the first blessings of life, ‘Home Education.’ ”

2.—One of the divisions of the Library is entitled the “Dessinian Collection,” being a collection of books, with a few manuscripts and paintings, which were bequeathed by Mr. JOACHIM NICOLAAS VON DESSIN, in the year 1761, “to serve as a foundation of a public library for the advantage of the community.” This valuable collection formed originally the nucleus of the whole Library, and, by the will of the donor, is vested in three trustees, elected annually by the Consistory of the Dutch Reformed Church, in Cape Town, from among its own members.

3.—The Dessinian Library has distinct rules and regulations, and a separate Catalogue, compiled by the late Rev. Messrs. KAUFMANN and VON MANGER, in 1821. The number of volumes amounts to 4,565, in the Latin, German, French, and Dutch languages.

The following is an analysis of the Dessinian Collection :—

	VOLS.
Theology	1,094
Jurisprudence	277
Medicine	77
Philosophy	161

4.—Another division of the Library, apart from the main body of the Institution, is entitled the “Grey Collection,” the munificent gift of the late Governor of the Colony, Sir GEORGE GREY, K.C.B., numbering about five thousand volumes. The Collection is accessible to the public during the same hours as the other parts of the Library. The manuscripts and other valuable books can only be perused under the personal inspection of the officer in charge, who attends daily from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M., and from 2 P.M. to 4 P.M.

5.—The Grey Collection is rich in costly and valuable manuscripts, ranging from the tenth to the seventeenth centuries, in Latin, Italian, Flemish, &c., besides many rare and valuable editions of Black-letter and Early English-printed books. Among the latter is a remarkably fine copy of the Polychronicon, printed by Caxton in 1482, and the first edition of the collected works of Shakspeare, 1623. It also possesses an unrivalled collection of Native Literature of South Africa, and of New Zealand, which is of considerable interest to the philologist and student. A philologist having been appointed by the Colonial Government, on whom the Library Committee have conferred the office of custodian, a Catalogue of the manuscripts and books, &c., belonging to the “Grey Collection” is now being prepared by him. The only printed Catalogues at present available are those for the Early English-printed books, and for a considerable part of the native literature in African and Polynesian languages.

6.—Special Rules have been formed for this Collection, which will be found immediately following the Rules for the general management of the Library.

7.—The following is a copy of the letter from Sir GEORGE GREY to the late Hon. Mr. Justice WATERMEYER, presenting this valuable gift to the South African Public Library :—

“ Government House, Auckland,
“ 21st October, 1861.

“ MY DEAR WATERMEYER,

“ For thirty years one of the chief delights of my life has been to collect a Library which I hoped would form the charm and recreation of my middle life and of my old age. Thus I have gone on indulging dreams of a tranquil and literary life, which was to be a compensation for the constant activity of my early years. A part of this plan was to publish from ancient manuscripts new editions of works which I regarded as being capable of great improvement. As my views extended, like a foolish man, I prepared for the last years of one life more work than several men could accomplish in several long lives. At the same time, I have ever found that the period of rest and tranquility I was to enjoy flies farther and farther from me as I advance in life. I have, in truth, become involved in duties from which I cannot escape. What I have laid up for myself I can neither use nor enjoy, yet it is selfishly shut up from other men, who might profitably use it and greatly enjoy it. I had hoped that after my death, this Library, being left to some new country, might prove to it a treasure of great value, to some extent helping to form the mind of each of its generations as they came following on. But I now feel it to be useless to wait for the period of my own death to render of use to my fellow-men that which events have rendered of little or no use to me. Many circumstances attach me to the Cape, to the beautiful public gardens of Cape Town, to the Public Library there, the site of which I chose, the first stone of which I laid, which a great Queen's son opened in my presence, which I may yet, perhaps, be permitted to visit in old age. I believe South Africa will be a great country; that Cape Town, or its vicinity, will for many reasons be the point of chief education for its young men. There can, therefore, be no more fitting or worthy resting-place for treasures which I have accumulated with so much care. I propose, therefore, by degrees, to send my whole Library to the South African Public Library at Cape Town, there to be deposited, subject to the following conditions :—

“ That I may at any time remove from the Library, as long as I require them, any books or manuscripts for my own use. That I may give the like privilege to the occupants of any institution I may hereafter found in South Africa. That during my lifetime all other persons shall be admitted, under the rules and regulations of the Library, to use the books and manuscripts in the Library, but that no person shall, without my consent, be permitted to remove any of them from the building. After my death the trustees of my collection shall make such regulations on this last subject as they think proper, as I do not wish to attempt to bind posterity by any unalterable rule.

"I propose that, for the purpose of seeing these conditions fulfilled, I should in the first instance appoint eight trustees, and that when any vacancy occurs, the remaining trustees should from time to time fill it up. The first eight trustees I should wish to be—Yourself, the Hon. W. PORTER, Sir T. MACLEAR, Mr. J. DE WET, Mr. J. FAIRBAIRN, Sen., Mr. C. A. FAIRBRIDGE, Mr. W. TASKER SMITH, W. HIDDINGH, Esq. Would you ask them if they would act for me? I shall feel much obliged to you if you would do this. You are aware that nearly all my Library is in England, and it will take some time to get it moved to the Cape. I have, however, with me here some very valuable books and manuscripts. These I send at once by the Cossack, in two cases. You will find what they are from the enclosed list. The cases are addressed, 'South African Public Library, Cape Town.' Will you see that they are received, and look after them?

"Very truly yours,

"GEORGE GREY."

8.—A further division of the Library is entitled the "Porter Collection," and was presented to the Library by the subscribers to a fund for the purpose of having a life-sized portrait of the Hon. Mr. Porter painted, to be deposited in the South African Public Library, as a recognition of the many and valuable services rendered by him to the Colony. Mr. Porter having declined to sit for his portrait, the Cape Town subscribers resolved that the amount subscribed by them should be devoted to the purchase of standard works to be placed in the Library, and styled the "Porter Collection." The titles of the books in this Collection will be found arranged under the different heads into which the Catalogue is divided, and an alphabetical list of the whole will be found at the end of the Catalogue.

9.—The Public Library was first opened to the public on the 3rd of January, 1822. By Ordinance No. 71, of 1830, the Governor and Council of that time abolished the office of Trustees of the Public Library in Cape Town, and vested the management thereof in a Committee of the subscribers to the institution. This Ordinance was subsequently repealed by Ordinance No. 8, of 1836, under which the Library is at present administered. In 1828 the Government aid was withdrawn by the repeal of the "Wine Tax." The revenue from the 3rd of May, 1829, when the circulating branch commenced, up to 1862, was almost exclusively derived from local subscriptions, but since that period the Institution has received an annual grant of £600 from the Colonial Parliament.

10.—The foundation-stone of the new Library building, with its kindred institution the Museum, was laid by his Excellency Sir GEORGE GREY, on Tuesday, the 23rd of March, 1858. The Library Hall was inaugurated during the auspicious visit of, and by His Royal Highness PRINCE ALFRED, on the 18th of September, 1860. The first volume deposited by His Royal Highness on the occasion was a very valuable Greek manuscript ("Lectionarium Græcum") of the tenth century, given for that purpose by His Excellency Sir GEORGE GREY. His Royal Highness at the same time presented and placed on the shelf a copy of the "Holy Bible," Knight's "Shakspeare," and the "Pictorial History of England."

11.—To the liberality of WILLIAM HIDDINGH, Esq., LL.D., the public are indebted for the handsome bookcases and fittings which adorn the Library Hall, the Gallery, and the Committee Room.

12.—The present Catalogue is divided into five great branches—viz., Theology, Jurisprudence, Sciences and the Arts, History, and Belles Lettres; and the heads of sub-divisions of these subjects have been extended, each division and sub-division being alphabetically arranged according to the names of the several authors.

REGULATIONS

FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY AND ITS OFFICERS,

MADE AGREEABLE TO AND IN PURSUANCE OF ORDINANCE No. VIII.

OF THE YEAR 1836,

AND THE GENERAL BODY OF SUBSCRIBERS.

I.—TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Terms of Subscription.

1. There shall be three classes of subscription, entitling subscribers at the rate of three pounds (£3) per annum to two sets of works and two periodicals, one week after receipt; subscribers at the rate of two pounds (£2) to one set of works and two periodicals one month after receipt; subscribers at the rate of one pound (£1) to one set of works and one periodical two months after receipt.

Non-residents.

2. Persons not intending to reside one year in the Colony may be admitted subscribers of the first class at the rate of £2 for six months.

Right of voting.

3. At every meeting of subscribers, every subscriber of the first class shall be entitled to three votes; of the second class, two votes; of the third class, one vote: provided all claims upon him by the Library shall have been first satisfied.

Subscription and deposit.

4. Any person about to become a subscriber is required before taking books from the Library, to pay his subscription, and a further sum as a deposit at the following rates:

Subscribers of the first and second class to deposit £1. Subscribers of the third class to deposit 10s., and the amount so deposited shall be applicable to the discharge of all claims by the Library upon any such subscriber.

5. Any subscriber who intends not to renew his subscription shall be entitled to receive back his deposit, upon and under an order of the Committee to that effect. Return of deposit.

6. Any subscriber may at any time exchange from the second to the first class, by increasing his subscription and deposit to the amount required by the first regulation. Rate of subscription may be changed.

7. Each subscriber shall have fourteen days' previous notice of the termination of his subscription given to him by the Librarian; fourteen days after the expiration of which period, should his subscription for the current year remain unpaid, no books shall be issued to him from the Library. Notice of the termination of subscription.

II.—THE LIBRARY.

1. The Library shall be open daily, except on Sundays; Saturday Afternoons after 2.30 p.m.; and holidays, or other days to be publicly notified by the Committee: from the 1st April to 31st August, from 9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.; from the 1st September to 31st October, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; from the 1st November to 31st January, from 9 a.m. to 6.30 p.m.; from the 1st February to 31st March, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Library hours.

ments open to subscribers.

7. Every subscriber shall be entitled during the time the Library is open to have, on demand, all documents connected with the Library produced to him by the Librarian.

Public notice of all new works.

8. All new works received shall be entered in a MS. catalogue, and the titles thereof written on a paper to be suspended in some conspicuous part of the Library.

Books may be withdrawn from circulation.

9. Any book which, in the Librarian's judgment, may be required to be bound or otherwise repaired shall be withdrawn from circulation for inspection by the Chairman of the Committee, who shall thereupon give such directions as may appear necessary.

Proposal book.

10. Every subscriber may enter the title of any work not in the Library in a proposal book, to be kept for that purpose, which shall be submitted by the Librarian to the Committee at every monthly meeting.

11. The Committee shall have the right of closing the Library for such time previous to the day fixed for holding the annual general meeting as they may think necessary for the inspection of the books, &c., and at such other times as may be absolutely necessary, upon three days' notice thereof being given in the Government Gazette, and by a written notice affixed in some conspicuous part of the Library.

The library may be closed.

III.—FINES.

1. Any subscriber taking out a book and not returning the same within three months shall be required to provide another complete copy of the work to which the said volume belongs, subject to the approval of the Committee; and in case of refusal or neglect, he shall be liable not only to replace the work, but also to a fine not exceeding the amount of his deposit, to be determined by the Committee.

Detention of books.

2. Subscribers taking away books, unless the same shall have been first duly entered by the Librarian, shall incur a fine of 5s. per volume for every day the same has been so kept out of the Library.

Books to be entered before circulation.

3. Subscribers not returning books within the periods fixed by the regulation on that head shall incur a fine, to be determined by the Committee, not exceeding 6d. per volume for every day of such undue detention.

Fine for undue detention of books.

4. Any book returned to the Library deprived of leaves or plates, or otherwise damaged, shall be withdrawn from circulation until examined by the Committee, who shall determine the penalty to be exacted for the damage; and before the said book be re-issued the Librarian shall specify the injury received in a conspicuous part of the book.

Books injured by a subscriber.

Subscribers to give notice of any injury.

5. Any subscriber taking out a book in any way damaged, and not, on returning it, giving notice thereof to the Librarian, shall be held accountable for the same.

Fine for lending a book to a non-subscriber.

6. Any subscriber lending a book taken out by him to any person not a resident member of his family shall incur a fine, to be determined by the Committee; if lent to a subscriber, not exceeding £2, and if lent to a non-subscriber, not exceeding £5.

All books to be returned upon notice by committee.

7. All books in circulation must be returned once in every year for inspection, upon the notice required by the regulation on that head having been given, and any subscriber failing to comply with such notification shall incur the fine under the second regulation for the undue detention of books.

Notice to be given of fines.

8. The Librarian shall give notice to any subscriber of any fine incurred by him, and the amount, if not paid, shall be deducted from his deposit, and no book issued to him until the deposit be completed.

IV.—THE LIBRARIAN.

The librarian to be secretary to the committee.

1. The Librarian shall be secretary to the Committee, and shall perform all the lawful instructions he may receive from them.

To observe and cause all the rules
to be observed.

2. The Librarian shall himself observe, and shall cause these and all other regulations which may in future be made, to be observed, and shall give notice to the Committee of the breach of any regulation by any person whomsoever.

To preserve order, &c.

3. The Librarian shall cause the Library rooms, books, furniture, &c., to be kept well aired and dusted, and shall maintain and preserve good order in the Library.

To keep a list of subscribers.

4. The Librarian shall make up, and keep in a correct manner, a list of subscribers to the Library, and cause the same to be suspended in the rooms.

5. The Librarian shall enter in a book all matters of business connected with the Library, and produce it at every ordinary meeting of the Committee.

To report on matters at each meeting of committee.

6. The Librarian shall keep correct accounts of all receipts and disbursements; he shall enter in proper books the daily issue and return of all works taken out by subscribers, and shall make such other minor arrangements as he shall deem necessary for conducting the affairs of the Library with regularity.

To keep accounts,
&c.

7. The Librarian shall take care that all moneys received by the Assistant Librarian are forthwith paid over to him, and he shall pay the same and all other moneys he may receive on account of the Library into the bank, in the name of the Treasurer, whenever the same shall amount to £10.

Receipt of moneys, &c.

8. The Librarian shall not allow children to remove valuable books or plates from the shelves, or handle them on the tables, uncontrolled by their parents or guardians, and shall report to the Committee any injury done by any person to any work belonging to the Library of Reference.

Not to permit children to handle certain books, &c.

9. No person shall have the right of interfering with the Librarian in the Library arrangements.

Interference with the librarian.

10. The Assistant Librarian and the other officers of the Library shall be under the direction and subject to the control of the Librarian, except when the Committee may see fit otherwise especially to order.

The assistant to librarian and other officers.

SPECIAL RULES FOR THE GREY COLLECTION.

DATED 3rd DECEMBER, 1864.

1. Sir George Grey's Library, forming the Grey Collection in the South African Public Library, is open to the Public during the same hours, and under the same Rules and Regulations, as the other parts of this Institution; but no Book or Manuscript is to be taken out except by order of Sir George Grey.

2. No Books shall be taken from the shelves without the permission of the Custodian of the Grey Collection, or the person in charge during the absence of the same.

3. Books of particular value, and Manuscripts, will only be accessible to the Public under the personal inspection of the Custodian, who will be in attendance from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

4. In the absence of the Custodian of the Grey Collection, from leave of absence or on account of illness or other causes, the Librarian of the Public Library will undertake the duties incumbent on the Custodian of the Grey Collection, under these rules.

5. The Custodian has discretionary power in granting or refusing permission to use any of the Books or Manuscripts in the Collection. He is also to give such specific directions regarding the manner of handling the Books and Manuscripts as he may find necessary.

6. Transcribers are not to lay the paper on which they write on any part of the Book or Manuscript they are using. As a general rule they are not allowed to use ink, but pencil. No tracings are allowed without express permission.

7. No Person is, on any pretence whatever, to write on any part of a Printed Book or Manuscript belonging to the Collection.

8. It may be sufficient merely to mention that silence is absolutely requisite in a place dedicated to the purposes of study.
